INTRODUCTION

After teaching English for more than 10 years, I accepted the challenge of teaching English for developer students just to find myself in love with programming. Hence, I'm officially changing careers and looking forward to working in my new area.

SKILLS I CAN TRANSFER FROM AREA TO AREA

- Being a good listener.

- Which learning strategies work best for me.

- Which learning strategies learn best for certain types of people.

- Time allocation and task execution either done individually, as a team member and as a leader of a group.

- Language skills, English, French, Spanish and Brazilian.

- Solid theoretical basis.

- Communicative and social.

PROJECTS

- while-true-code: Repository where I keep notes and files from the courses and certifications I take.

- instructionsFromStudents: collaborative work from my students and I where we coded simple programs they instructed me in English on how to do it and I coded.

- teachers' Toolbox: This is the idea which brought me closer to the IT area. A website with ready-to-use lesson plans and extra materials for Brazilian Basic Education English teachers. So far, it is on the documentation stage and it is part of my final project at Senac's System Development Technician course.

OTHER PROGRAMMING TOOLS

- Java: Java Swing.
- SQL: MySQL Workbench, MongoDB.
